How Did We Ever Make It Through?

I started this book out with the idea of making the whole theme a dedication to the previous seventy-four editors, as this is the 75th anniversary of the Nautilus. After about a month of struggling through the semester with my academics, social, and private life, I realized that the only reason I had made it through those trying times was because of the friendships that I had made while being here at ENC. I realized for the first time what friendship was, and how important it was to all the students at ENC, including myself. So the original theme was scratched and the new theme began to form. So many of the editors have dedicated the book to the development of the school, while ignoring the most important aspect of the school and the book - the relationships of the students. Ten years from now, after we have graduated and are in the midst of our adult lives and we look back and remember college, I don't think we will spend much time thinking about the newly remodeled cafeteria. I tend to think that when we look back we will remember each other and smile, and ponder how we ever made it through college - and we will probably remember all those late nights with our friends talking about classes, the opposite sex, future plans, goals, and so much more.....

How did we ever make it through? The answer is simple - our friends.

Webster's Definition of Friend and Friendship:

Friend - (n.) 1. A person whom one knows well and is fond of; intimate associate; close acquaintance.

2. A person on the same side in a struggle; one who is not an enemy or a foe; ally.

3. A supporter or sympathizer.

4. Something thought of as like a friend in being helpful, reliable..

Friendship - (n.) 1. The state of being friends.

2. Attachment between friends.

3. Friendly feeling or attitude; friendliness.

"The greatest sweetener of human life is friendship. To raise this to the highest pitch of enjoyment, is a secret which but few discover."

- Joseph Addison (1672-1719, English essayist)

"A friend is someone I can trust and pour my inner thoughts into; a friend will understand who I really am."

Mike Taylor, Junior

"There are persons who cannot make friends. Who are they? Those who cannot be friends."

- William Hazlitt (1778-1839, English essayist)

"A friend to me is someone who I can love and trust and who is an important part of my life."

Ray Walters, Sophomore

"It is one of the blessings of old friends that you could afford to be stupid with them."

- Emerson

"When all is said and done, friendship is the only trustworthy fabric of the affections. So-called love is a delicious inhuman state of mind when hot it substitutes indulgence for fair play; when cold it is cruel, but friendship is a warmth in cold, firm ground in a bog."

Wiles Franklin (1879-1954 Australian author)

"True friendship is a rare and valuable commodity. It is being able to look past the superficial and peer straight into the heart and accepting a person with either all or nothing."

- Dawn Ebert, Senior

"Be a friend to thyself, and others will be too."

"Friendship is very important. Friends can help you through the hard times and they sing to you - which has it's benefits and drawbacks."

- Phillip Dyke, Senior

"The holy passion of friendship is of so sweet and steady and loyal and enduring a nature that it will last throughout a whole lifetime, if asked not to lend money."

- Mark Twain (1835-1910, US author)

"I don't know where I would be without my friends. I lean on them, they support me. I trust them. I can't be friends with someone if I don't trust them."

- Betsy Milne, Sophomore

"God gives us our relatives - Thank God we can choose our friends."

- Ethel Watts Humphord

"I see a friend as someone you can trust and confide in."

- Nicole Dickinson, Freshman

"For sake not an old friend, for a new one does not compare with him."

- Ecclesiastes 9: 9, Apocrypha

"Friendship is fickle, sometimes it's got roots and other times it doesn't. It all depends on how much time is spent on the friendship, but when it's real, it's one of the few true joys in life."

- Mary-Jo Metaxas, Freshman

"I feel that I can tell my friends anything. I would do anything for them."

- Bill Tammaro, Freshman

"Friendship is a single soul dwelling in two bodies."

- Aristotle

"Only solitary men know the full joys of friendship. Others have their family - but to a solitary and an exile his friends are everything."

- Willa Cather (1876-1947, US author)

"Love, sharing, trust. Friends are an important part of my life, sometimes they help shape my life. I adapt to them, they adapt to me."

- Hector C. Newman, Freshman

"Life without a friend is death without a witness."

- George Herbert

"A true friend is a friend who is there when they know there is somewhere else they could be."

- Jennifer Clark, Senior

"Friendship is so important. I love my friends, I don't know what I would do without them."

Mary Kelly, Freshman

Above from Left to Right: Robert C. Smith Jr, Neil Hutchinson, and Davis Dunmire.

"My close friends don't know I talk about them behind their backs- I just go on and on about how much I LOVE THEM and how LUCKY I am that they put up with me."

- Colleen A. Santoro, Sophomore

The Growth of Friendship

"To throw away an honest friend is, as it were, to throw your life away."
- Sophocles

"The keyword in friendship is - trust."
Kelly Jardine, Sophomore

"All love that has not friendship for it's base, is like a mansion built upon the sand" - (The Merchant of Venice, Act 1, Scene 3, Shylock)

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends"
- John 15:13

What Do Friendships Take?

Friendships are to last forever, their bonds are hard to break. Should these bonds begin to sever, then what do friendships take?

- Maria E. Marineau

Friendship is Timeless...

Some people are said to have old souls, old souls in young bodies - this is what I see in my walk through life and ENC. People moving in and out of each other's lives... learning, reaching, pulling back, and holding on.

Within

Embracing me with color
Friendship is the blood
I breathe.
The only Flower I won't pick but sing to.
I only know that Friendship is the Dream within every dream.
and it's holding my hand.

Tightly.

People involved in the quest and journey of friendship-discovering that true friendship is about tough love, the unconditional kind. Despite the daily chaos of school, I see people taking the time to grow from the unconditional love of friendship towards ourselves, others, and our world. Friendship teaches us how to love and be loved. Everyone grows from this love, no one remains the same. Friends grow from each other, they grow up together and in the process, they grow old together. Souls locked in the age of strength, growth, and love. Timeless, friendship is as old as our souls-eternal.

- Colleen Santoro

To the Class of 1997:

Congratulations on the successful completion of your college career! You are to be commended for staying the course, for persevering, for reaching this important landmark in your academic preparation.

The Eastern Nazarene College experience has involved a lot more than studying for exams and passing courses. It has allowed you to think about your faith, to grow in your understanding of the Christian Tradition, and hopefully to deepen your commitment to God and His will for your life.

But when you look back on your college years, you will remember more than classrooms and chapel; you will see in your mind's eye, dorm rooms, athletic events, the Dugout, and most importantly -- the people with whom you have lived, studied, and socialized.

With the passage of years, one's sense of what is truly important often grows more and more certain. People matter more than success and material possessions. People have ultimate significance because each of us is created in the Image of God, and though imperfect, human beings still reflect a Divine spark, a promise of something which reflects the Creator God of Love.

It will be the friendships you have made at ENC which you will particularly treasure in the future. Some of you have met your life's companion on the campus of ENC -- often someone you did not know at all when you came here as freshmen. Most of you have made friends which will last a lifetime. Some friendships are with faculty and staff who have played pivotal roles in your own development.

During your last year at ENC one of the most remarkable spiritual thinkers of our time died -- Henry J. M. Nouwen. He was taken from us much earlier than we had thought he would be; he was just 64 at his passing. Surely this is a sober reminder to us all that our lives are short at best, and sometimes even shorter than we expect. What's done for God, and for each other, must be done quickly. Sunsets must be enjoyed today. The kind word spoken today. That which is needful to do, done today. That quiet time with a friend, enjoyed and treasured today. Tomorrow may be much late.

A few months before Nouwen died, he wrote some touching remarks about the meaning of friendship. I want to leave these words with you at this closing of an important chapter in your life. But more importantly, I want to give you these insights as the bridge between your years at ENC and your future -- a future which may take you far away, but never so far that you forget the friendships that you have forged at your alma mater.

The words come from Nouwen's devotional book, Bread for the Journey

Friendship is one of the greatest gifts a human being can receive. It is a bond beyond common goals, common interests, or common histories. It is a bond stronger than sexual union can create, deeper than a shared fate can solidify, and it can be even more intimate than the bonds of marriage or community. Friendship is being with the other in joy and sorrow, even when we cannot increase the joy or decrease the sorrow. It is a unity of souls that gives nobility and sincerity to love. Friendship makes all of life shine brightly. Blessed are those who lay down their lives for their friends.

I wish for each of you ever deepening friendships, and most importantly, a continuing relationship with Jesus Christ, the source of all meaning, love, and true friendship.

With warmest best wishes,

Kent R. Hill

Senior year brings many ups and downs. One upside is thinking about graduation and one downside is thinking about all the work that needs to be done before graduation! The main goal of the Senior Class Council is to help fellow classmates get through these ups and downs. We had many activities this year that gave our class time to fellowship with friends. God has blessed us with a special class and our prayer is that when we leave ENC, we will take these memories with us and remember them always.

As I gaze at the street or out at the ocean and its mighty waves or study the moon and stars, I remember how powerful and awesome God is. I ask (realize) He is more than able to care for us during our trials (1 Pet. 5:7). He understands what we go through (knows our needs) and feels our pain (Heb. 4:15-16). No matter how long and dark the road looks, how uncertain you were that you will, or confusing your circumstances, God is always there with His arms open wide to take you safely through. Don't be afraid (Isa. 41:7-8).

It's over! I have to admit it is with joy and sadness that I leave this place. Joy for what lies ahead, and sadness for those I leave. ENC has shaped my life in so many ways--ways I don't even know. For that I am thankful. Thank-you class of

Joy Forbes

I never believed that I would like it at ENC. But now the thought of leaving is extremely difficult. The most important lesson I have learned is that our plans are not always God's plans. I can honestly say that I was stubborn and somewhat arrogant to His will in my life. But God was patient and He slowly revealed to me who it was He wanted me to be. I now know that the desire I have to help people would never be quenched without the skills I've learned in social work. God is so good. I'm learning more about His goodness everyday. I can't wait to see where He'll lead me next!

"The only way to be obedient to the heavenly vision is to give our utmost for God's highest... If you want to select your own spot, you will prove to be an empty pod. If God sows you, you will bring forth fruit."

-Oswald Chambers in "My Utmost For His Highest"

Jeremy Davey

As I stepped foot on the ENC campus, I was confident in what I knew. I wanted to be a doctor. However, during the four years I attended ENC, I can honestly say that I've learned more by what I did not know. Placing my trust in God, I feel free to pursue opportunity. Now as I leave ENC a business major, I can do so just as confident as when I arrived, though the future is more uncertain now than it ever seemed before.

Jennifer Stroupe

God is loving, gracious, and merciful. Anything we may accomplish in this brief whisper of life is due to that fact alone.

Greg Jaloszynski

"If a man is called to be a streetsweeper, he should sweep streets even as Michelangelo painted, or Beethoven played music, or Shakespeare wrote poetry. He should sweep streets so well that all the hosts of Heaven and Earth will pause to say, 'Here lived a great streetsweeper who did his job well.'" --Martin Luther King Jr.

If there is one thing I learned while I was at ENC, it is to do everything to the best of your ability. ENC athletics have helped to give me self-confidence, leadership and communication skills, and also the value of teamwork. I would like to thank all my coaches, professors and teammates for all the great experiences.

Jessica Buckingham

My years here at ENC have been full of experiences. I've laughed a lot, cried a lot, learned a lot, but mostly I've grown a lot. I've been challenged and stretched in so many areas. Of course, since this is an educational institution, I would have to say that I am a more educated person now than I was four years ago (thank you ENC!). In addition, I've benefited so much from the relationships that I've formed. Over these years, I've cultivated friendships that I'm confident will last throughout my life. One of the biggest areas that I've been challenged in, however, is in my spiritual walk. I couldn't count the many times that my faith has been tested! But God always has His gentle way of "steering" me back to where I belong and reminding me again of His perfect love. As I prepare to leave ENC, I'm unsure of what lies ahead, but I am sure that the growth I've experienced here will only continue if I allow God to work through my life.

Huy Nguyen

Looking back over the past four years, I can't help but smile as the memories race through my mind. ENC has been more than just an academic institution. It has been family, friends, professors, staff, and most of all God working in me and through me in service to Him. ENC has been a place of growth in a number of areas in my life. It has been a place in which I have been able to grow in love, compassion, humility, leadership, spiritually, and academically. God has placed people in my life that have encouraged me, strengthened me, and believed in me in times of victory as well as times of heart-felt defeat. First of all, I want to thank my family for their support and sensitivity to God's calling in my life. I want to thank my friends for all the times we spent together laughing, crying, and praying. I want to thank the music faculty and the religion professors for encouraging me and believing in me. I want to thank Mrs. Waltemire for her smiles that were worth a lot more than the checks she handed to me on pay day. Most of all, I thank God for His grace and hand upon my life as He has molded me and continues to do so as I continue my journey homeward.

Lara Rines

Growing up around this college campus, I've seen students come and go from ENC all my life. Each year I would see a particular ENCer and say to myself, "That person is really making a difference. I want to be like that when I get to ENC." I always had ideas in my head of what ENC was all about. But I came to realize that ENC is not what it seems to be from an onlooker perspective. It is so much more. My ENC experience is about contemplative growth; making friends for a lifetime and for eternity; the changing of my attitudes; having pride and spirit in my community, school, and in myself; laughing heartily and crying sorrowfully; taking a stand and working hard; and being patient, understanding, and real. My ENC experience became a significant and life-changing adventure for which I will never be the same. I dedicated this honor to my family, especially to my mother who has taught me so much about love and life... and in memory of my stepfather who encouraged me to reach for the stars. Praise God!

Jeremy Fox

Despite my initial reluctance to attend ENC, my undergraduate career has far exceeded all of the exceptions I held for college. Although I did study the most demanding major in the school (engineering physics) I was still fortunate enough to spend an extraordinary amount of time with the friends I made here. I found that the greatest aspect of our alma mater is the strong Christian friendships that we are given the opportunity to make. Working as a member of the Junior Class council was a cool experience. I was even fortunate enough to own a Jaguar for a few very short, agonizing weeks. The most memorable experiences during my ENC career though are ties to that infamous group of suave, sophisticated engineers, the "Fab Five." I'll never forget the other members of the Fab Five and how we tried to imbibe the school with our energy through multiple practical jokes. And of course I would like to thank the Fab Fives' mentor, the good Dr. Free, and his lackeys, Fish and Giberson. As I attend graduate school to become a doctor, I would like to thank my wonderful parents who guided me to ENC and gave me the education that so well prepared me for graduate study.

Renee Pomerville

My four years at ENC have provided me with some of the greatest learning experiences of my life. I have been challenged academically, but for me the most learning has come through the situations that God has placed before me while I've been here. Through joy and triumph, heartache and disappointment, God has made it clear to me that He has a purpose for everything and that there is always something to be learned from every situation we encounter. At times I haven't understood what that purpose was, but God has shown me simply to trust in Him, for only He has what's best for me. So as I end my four years of college, I thank God for His neverending love and faithfulness, knowing that I would not be where I am today without Him.

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your won understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight." Proverbs 3:5-6

Jeff Bretsch

My experience in college has taught me more than I ever dreamed. I have learned to think, to question, to lead, and to serve. I have also learned how to cook a wide variety of Ramen noodles, how to stay up until 4 a.m. for no reason except the company of friends, how to play the guitar, and, for the basketball players, how to run three lines without getting tired. Above all else, it is the relationships that I've built here that I treasure most. I have seen what true friends are and I want to thank Jenn, Matt, Beav, Paul, Greg, Jay, Dave, and all of my teammates for memories that will never leave me. I would like to thank Coach Fleming for giving me a chance at success and my teammates for helping me achieve it. I am grateful to Dr. Shea, Dr. Yerxa, Dr. Winderl, and soon to be Dr. Hepburn for teaching me not only knowledge, but the excitement which is found in its pursuit. Through all of this the Lord has blessed me richly, and I want to praise Him for his faithfulness, perseverance, understanding, and unending love.

Amy Travaline

Looking back over the years I've spent at ENC, I am amazed at how much I have learned about myself, about other people, and about God. I am indebted to my loving family and friends who continually encourage me and support me in my endeavors. My English classes have taught me more about human nature and have instilled in me an even greater desire for seeking knowledge and truth.

I would like to thank Dr. Ruth Cameron for being a wonderful advisor, professor, and friend. Not only have you shared your literary expertise in the classroom, but you have shared your culinary expertise of tea and scones in your home! I would like to thank Dr. Carl Winderl, also, for presenting me with an entirely new perspective on literature and on life, in general. Finally, to quote e. e. cummings' words, "i thank You God for most this amazing / day: for the leaping greenly spirits of trees / and a blue true dream of sky." Amen!

Paul Bowen

The most significant aspect of my ENC education is the influence of and interaction with my professors. I particularly appreciate: Dr. Yerxa and Andy Johnson who instilled in me my love of philosophy and made a personal investment in my life; Dr. James Cameron who inspired and challenged me; Doc McLaren who whet my appetite for all things Scottish; Gary Calhoun who was my model social worker; and Dr. Mike Roberts who was invaluable as my advisor and counselor. I am deeply grateful for the spiritual influence and guidance of Fletcher Tink, Doug Hardy, and Mike Schütz. What would I have done without the librarians who took such good care of me? I'll never forget you all. To all my friends, these have been the best days of my life and I owe that to you. Most of all, I am grateful for my family without whose influence, encouragement, and tremendous sacrifice I never would have made it through. Everything I have accomplished I owe to you. I love you.

Steve Rogers

When I was young, my own personal motto was "dare to dream." Although always firmly rooted in reality, I would consistently cast myself in a world of dreams and aspirations for my future and its success. To a young boy, though, the height and loft of these dreams seemed daunting and dissuading, so I sometimes feared to strive for them. Looking back at my four years of ENC, though, I find myself stopping and reflecting upon how lovingly God has brought me along the road to these dreams. In ways I never would have imagined, my friends and professors have taught me lessons of personal brokenness and compassion from which I have summoned the courage to pursue my dreams. Through the love of my parents and the support and challenges posed by the faculty of ENC, I have found an unprecedented facilitation of academic, personal, and spiritual growth. And at the end of it all, I can truly say that I know what it is like to touch the magic and enchantment of a fulfilled dream. May the same be said for all of you. God bless!

Cara Wallington

If you are willing to have your beliefs challenged, your horizons broadened immensely, your mind bombarded with theories, and your sense of community transformed, then ENC is the place to be.

I thank my Abba for leading me here. It is true that He has "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future" (Jer. 29:11). Mum and Dad your sacrifices, listening ears and encouraging words haven't gone unnoticed. I would like to thank my extended family, at ENC, for personally demonstrating to me how to be vulnerable, sincere and compassionate. Andy and Gina you've given me so much, especially your friendship. Dr. Shea, words cannot express my deep appreciation for the time you have set aside to listen and support me through the medical school application process.

It shall be hard to leave ENC, but as James Deihl charged the '96 graduates, "if you have the courage to do so, [you will leave ENC] with a wonderfully-educated mind coupled with the spirit of Christlike humility."

Tonia Lahr

Life is a daily process of surrender. As I reflect on the past and anticipate the future, I am realizing that surrender is the only foundation that lasts. Through laying down my past to the Lord, and lifting my future to Him as well, I must then believe that He truly will watch over me. Change has not been a strong suit for me, but I am thankful for the many changes of growth, experiences, and new relationships God has brought across my path. Without the joy and trials, success and failures, and most importantly friends and family, I would not have reached this crossroads in life. I clearly realize the Lord's work through each of the adventures in making me the person I am today and who I will be in the future. My greatest desire in life is to serve the Lord that so graciously surrendered His all for me. This has been my most significant life decision and the most significant characteristic I hope to be remembered by as I venture into this next phase of life.

Jeremy Anderson

ENC has been one of the greatest experiences I have had in my young life. I'd like to thank God for lending me, first, to the institution and, second, for guiding me through this portion of the race. I owe a debt of gratitude to all the professors but I'd especially like to thank my business professors, Al Socci, Mike Holt and Joe Goulart. Thanks to my family (Dad, Mom, Heather, Mike, Steve and Linnea) for putting up with my antics and supporting me throughout these four years. To Coach DeMichael and my baseball teams, I thank you for instilling in me a sense of termination and determination that will remain a part of me throughout my lifetime. Joy, thank you for your love and kind heart. You've shown me so many things about life, God and myself. I'm thankful that you have been an integral part of my growth and maturation. I love this place and the people who create the atmosphere which is definitely driven by a true sense of God's purpose! C-ya!

Lori Fern

My four years at ENC have helped me develop into a person I could not have foreseen. My mom would be proud to know that I take after her with my newly founded love for coffee, and my dad will be proud to know that though I have learned to enjoy the city, I'm a country girl at heart. On a more academic note, I never expected to become a math major and to dream of teaching. For the confidence I gained, persistence I developed, and challenge I encountered, I thank the ENC math department. Also, a special thank you to my LBM and roommate for teaching me that a complete person works hard both at developing intellectually and relationally. Thank you ENC for making possible opportunities that will open the doors to my future.

Stephen Boel

Being a senior in college brings me to an interesting quandary as it is sometimes difficult to imagine life beyond graduation. It is a time in which a particular life goal has been reached. However, it is only one of a lifetime of goals yet to be fulfilled. Now I stand at the edge of a new level in my life. With my fifth year of college next year, I stand ready to progress to that next plateau. I have spent almost 22 years of my life enhancing my talents and constantly building upon my knowledge. I await with great anticipation to use what I have acquired and refined in any way the Lord has ordained. I plan to continue pursuing music, as I concentrate in the area of conducting in graduate school. Nevertheless, my education never stops. I thank my Lord for the many opportunities He has given me to learn and use my talents for Him. As I stand at the edge of this new level of my life, I stand firm in Christ, seeking to serve Him alone in whatever He calls me to do. And now, I see that my 22 years thus far have not been just a process to reach a particular goal. Rather, my entire life is a process toward the goal that God has created for me.

Heather Long

As I look back on my four years at ENC, my mind overflows with memories—basketball games coming down to final seconds, dreaded core classes, dorm raids in both the women's and men's dorms, road trips to places as close as RI, and as far as PA, speakers including Tony Campolo and Brennan Manning, and most of all, countless good times with new found friends. The one word that summarizes my years at ENC is "fulfilling." There were so many opportunities set before my eyes that I can now leave ENC knowing that the memories I made here will be treasured forever. One final thought or wish...to all who have crossed my path and touched my heart in the past 4 years, may you always know that you will be a treasured part of my life.

"If you have anything really valuable to contribute to the world it will come through the expression of your own personality, that single spark of divinity that sets you off and makes you different from every other living creature."

—Bruce Barton

Timothy Vaughn

"Test everything, hold fast to what is good." 2 Thessalonians 5:21

At times, my four years at ENC felt like a series of rigorous tests. I faced academic exams, as well as tests of my faith. One of the areas of my faith that I continually examined was my notions of truth. I gained a better understanding of Truth through influential relationships that showed me the following aspects of God's goodness:

*Commitment and Unselfishness: Alicia, my fiancée, faithfully put my needs before hers. Her love for me was continually revealed in her unselfishness!

*Guidance: Dr. Hall modeled dedication and excellence in his profession and his spiritual journey. His interest in me, beyond chemistry, taught me invaluable life lessons.

*Support and Encouragement: My parents and sister provided for my needs which allowed me to remain focused on my academic goals. Their foundation of love and encouragement served as a source of stability.

Jennifer Westurn-Crofford

Throughout my college experience, I have felt the fingers of God tracing the patterns of my life through my professors, friends, and classes. I have seen His love work through the words and examples of Drs. Cameron, Drs. Winderl, Prof. Fiacco, Prof. Kingsley, and SO many others. I have listened to His voice through A Cappella and the insight of various authors. I have touched the hem of His robe of love and healing through Dr. McCormick and various chapels. I have breathed the fragrance of His peace through my husband's love and my family members (who never let me go). I have felt the joy of His walk through my friends and the times we share. As I face moving into the field of teaching, may I be His light and example to my students, and ENC has been to me. May I be worthy of the calling as He loves me.

SENIOR

DEER RUN LODGE NEW HAMPSHIRE

RETREAT

THE WEEKEND OF MAY 10TH FOUND MANY SENIORS HEADED TO NEW HAMPSHIRE FOR THEIR FINAL CLASS ACTIVITY OF THE YEAR. THE SENIOR RETREAT WAS HELD AT DEER RUN LODGE, A BEAUTIFUL AREA IN THE MIDDLE OF THE WOODS AND MOUNTAINS. ONE HIGHLIGHT OF THE RETREAT WAS A HOMEMADE MURDER MYSTERY VIDEO, STARRING EACH OF THE SENIORS. SOMEONE WAS KILLING OFF CLASS MEMBERS, AND IN THE END IT

WAS DISCOVERED THAT THE MURDERER WAS NONE OTHER THAN THE SENIOR CLASS ADVISOR PROFESSOR FIACCO. THE SENIOR RETREAT WAS A TIME TO STRENGTHEN FRIENDSHIPS FORMED OVER THE LAST FOUR YEARS, AND BOND TOGETHER ONE LAST TIME.

BACCALAUREATE

PRESIDENT HILL DELIVERS THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON. THE SERMON FOCUSED ON BEING DISCIPLES OF CHRIST, AND THE IMPORTANCE OF LETTING GO OF OUR OWN DESIRES. "TRYING TO HOLD ON TO TWO WORLDS AT ONCE IS A PRESCRIPTION FOR MISERY."

"FAITH IS ONLY REAL WHEN IT REQUIRES OBEDIENCE."

-DIETRICH BONHOEFFER

Stephanie Grant introduces "Hear the Voice of Jesus Calling" for the A Cappella Choir. The song states that our mission is to point others to Christ. "Never find yourself repeating 'There is nothing I can do,' while a world of men is dying, there's a work God calls us to."

Friends ~ Point of Grace

The Senior Song

*We are made love and be loved
But the price this world demands
Will cost you far too much
I spent so many lonely years just trying to fit in Now I've found a place in this circle of friends*

*In a circle of friends we have one Father
In a circle of friends we share this prayer
That every orphaned soul will know
And all will enter in
To the shelter of this circle of friends*

*If you sing for joy the rest of us will lift our voices too
But no matter what you feel inside
There's no need to pretend
That's the way it is in this circle of friends*

*In a circle of friends we have one Father
In a circle of friends we share this prayer
That we'll gather no matter how the highway bends
I will not lose this circle of friends*

*Among the nations, tribes and tongues
We have sisters and brothers
And when we meet in heaven
We will recognize each other
With joy so deep and love so sweet
Oh, we'll celebrate these friends
And a life that never ends*

*In a circle of friends we have one Father
In a circle of friends we share this prayer
That it will not be long before
All will enter in
To the shelter of this circle of friends*

With our hearts beating fast and our eyes filled with tears, we, the freshman class, entered our new home. There were so many new faces. But somehow, each new face reflected our own conflicting feelings of fear and excitement. Throughout this year, these new faces, these new people, have become our closest friends.

As a council, we entered our positions in hopes to serve God first. We started a weekly class prayer meeting to allow God to direct our paths and strengthen our class. These prayers blessed our year. Through a series of struggles and transitions, our council learned the valuable lesson of sacrifice.

Our Freshman class of 2000 has much to be proud of. Our activities, our involvement, and our pride have been exceptional. As the class began to bond through activities such as late night pajama parties, karyoke parties, full neighborhood scavenger hunts, and talent shows, our class formed a solid foundation for the years to come.

Class chapels ultimately expressed our desire to follow the Lord's direction. As we anticipate another great year, we are reminded of our ultimate desire. . .

"Forgetting the past and looking forward to what lies ahead. I strain to reach the end of the race and receive the prize for which God is calling us. . ." (Phil. 3:13-14b).

"I awoke this morning with a devout thanksgiving for my friends, the old and the new," said Ralph Waldo Emerson. As sophomores who are halfway through their college journeys, his statement bears reflection for each of us. Suddenly life has become so crowded, making it far too easy to forget our friends in the rush of schoolwork, to forget school in the rush of activities, to forget activities in the rush of jobs and work and errands, to forget faith in the midst of it all. Our sophomore year, then, has been one of finding balance. But it has been a good year too, between banquet hosting, the Old Spaghetti Factory trip, bagel deliveries to faculty and staff e-v-e-r-y Thursday, class activities, and a host of other experiences now simply tucked into our memories. And our friends have been central through each of these times—may we always give thanks for them and for these years as well...I surely will!

God bless, Krista White

JUNIORS CLASS COUNCIL

CHRYSTAL SMITH, JOY WILLEY,
NATHANIEL MCINTYRE, MIOSOTIS
MARTINEZ, and JEFFREY SCOTT

As this year comes to an end, I stand in awe of the things God has done in my life. Working with the Junior Class Council has been a wonderful experience. We have dealt with many issues and yet grown to respect each other and our awesome responsibilities. We remember John Paul's heart-warming victory as Mr. ENC, trying to deliver Valentine flowers, cinnamon buns, and learning to hate pizza. We really want to thank everyone who got involved and helped us wherever they were needed. Although the Jr./Sr. brought much anxiety, the rewards of accomplishing a successful and memorable evening made it all worth it. We hope that if our council is remembered for anything, it won't be for our hard work, but for our dedication to fulfilling God's purpose in each of our lives. Our prayer is that next year as seniors we will grow together as a class and seek God's will in the midst of our search for direction.

Joy Willey, President

The Crusaders, directed by first year coach Dave Cawthorne, turned in a very solid season finishing with an 8-9-1 record. While some people predicted this season would be a rebuilding one, ENC persevered through an 0-4 start to capture 7 of their next 11 games, including a win over powerful Fitchburg State and a homecoming victory over Rhode Island College.

Mike Taylor led a very balanced scoring attack while Bob Johnston led the team in assists. Gerry Bonneau and Jon Bromley, both juniors, made the Commonwealth Coast All Conference team. Senior Captains Mike Deaguero and Chris McLain will be missed but ENC could return as many as 19 players next season. This experience should mean good things for next year's program.

The Lady Crusaders continued their winning ways during the 1996-97 season, finishing with a 25-9 regular season (25-10 overall) record. They successfully defended their CCC title and were once again selected to the ECAC Tourney.

Senior co-captains Lara Rines and Colleen Gallagher had memorable years. Lara was selected to a number of All-Tourney Teams (MIT, Gordon, CCC, NEWVA Senior Classic Team) while playing consistently well throughout the year. Colleen (CCC All Tourney Team, NEWVA Senior Classic Team) led the team in assists and serving percentage. Kelly Allen (CCC All Tourney Team) was an intimidating force at the net as she led the team in blocks and hits. Becky Sowden (Salem State All Tourney Team) consistently provided hard hits and good serving. Katie Gallagher used her speed to play an effective back row with a deceptive serve which scored a number of easy points. Amy Sue Eash improved a great deal over the course of the season and came through with some clutch serves in key situations.

With the loss of only two seniors, the Lady Crusaders look to have another productive season next year.

Milne, Sophie Rutledge

The 1996-1997 Women's Tennis team finished with a 9-6 record. They placed 6th in the conference playoffs where they faced tough competition from Colby-Sawyer and Salve Regina University.

Senior Sophie Rutledge from Omagh, N. Ireland, now residing in Medford, MA gave experience and leadership to the number 1 singles position. The other contributing senior was Minna Pak, a master at ground strokes. Other team members were Junior Marcy Morrison, Sophomores Karen Brook, Lisa Hughes, Betsy Milne and Robin Pomante and Freshmen Jamie Roy and Supatra Sukduang.

Coach Mahar took an early leave and Anne Hassinger Cawthorne picked the coaching on court. Coach Mahar worked behind the scenes and Anne did a great job of holding a professional position without warning. She represented ENC Tennis extremely well.

Cross Country

F-R Jennifer Witherow, Melanie Gaziano, Joyce Sampson

The Eastern Nazarene College cross country team in 1996 experienced the fruits of their work by winning the last two meets. The first month of the season began with a new coach introduced on the first day of practice as well as numerous scheduling conflicts. An endurance program was put into place which would result in gradual improvement providing that the athlete stick to the workout routine.

This eventually paid off as the ENC men's team would surprise even their coach by winning their homecoming meet and then taking the Commonwealth Coast Conference championship the following week. Led by Ed Gardner who would finish first and second in the two meets, as well as the exceptional running of Hamilton Paul, Mike Paul and freshmen Kevin Kilby, ENC would have four runners in the top ten in both meets. The women's team led by Melissa Ladd who finished second in each of the last two meets, continued to improve each week. Melanie Gaziano, Jennifer Witherow and Joyce Sampson all set personal bests for the year at the conference championships.

The outlook for the next year is even brighter since all runners will be returning. An off season training schedule will be put into place which will make the team more competitive in early meets, as well as more emphasis placed on recruiting, should make for a bright future for cross country.

Women's Basketball

B-R Kelly Leete, Wendy Young, Kelly Talbot, Sophie Rutledge, Jennifer Jones, Carrie Hook, Young Cobb, Naomi Jacobs
F-R Kim Howard, Jahnna Washburn, Melissa Christmas, Toni Kabilian

Season expectations were high with a 6-2 start before Christmas. Senior co-captains Jennifer Jones and Sophia Rutledge were relentless on the boards. Kelli Leete and Wendy Young provided an offensive punch, while contributing on the defensive end. The steady play of Kelly Talbot and Jahnna Washburn made a significant impact at both ends of the court.

Melissa Christmas and Carrie Hook earned CCC Rookie of the week honors and were also 2nd team All-Conference selections.

Crusader Basketball continued its long tradition of basketball excellence, finishing the season with a 23-5 record. ENC again made it to the CCC championship game and finished with the best regular season record in the conference. The team went on to win the ECAC championship, defeating University of Massachusetts-Boston in the finals, the first ECAC championship in any sport at ENC. Dave Hepburn was named MVP of the ECAC tournament.

Their 23-5 record was the 13th best win/loss record in the country this year.

This season was a challenging experience for both the team and coach. The team was reconstructed almost entirely, including the coaching staff. Late night practices and injury didn't stop the enthusiasm and hard work in each practice. Teamwork and cooperation paid off as the team gave the "perfect cheer" in their routine against rival Gordon at the CCC tournament. The squad created and choreographed all their cheers and routines with very little help, giving credit to their creativity and athletic ability.

The 1997 Men's Varsity Tennis team had a very successful season and they once again eclipsed the school record for the most wins in a season. Jeff Kelley continued his dominance at the number one position losing only one regular season singles match. Outstanding number one players are very rare and ENC was fortunate to have one of Kelley's quality. Senior Jeremy Pease had an excellent season with an impressive winning percentage.

The 1996-97 Crusader Softball season saw a number of games lost due to the weather, a doubleheader victory over Wentworth, and a win over U/MA Boston. Seated 9th in the Conference tournament, they upset the 8th seed and went on to play the 2nd seed. Despite hitting close to .400 and playing strong defense, they lost a well-played game. Senior Captain Colleen Gallagher played a strong centerfield. She was 2nd in batting and led the team in runs scored and doubles.

Other highlights included another trip to Cocoa, Florida and a huge win over 6th ranked Salem State. The Crusaders were led by seniors Jeremy Anderson, Greg Jaloszynski and Chris Herrick. Jeremy was chosen First Team All-Conference, becoming the first player at ENC to receive this all four years of his career. Greg closed out his career with a solid batting average and Chris ended as undoubtedly the best defensive first baseman in ENC history.

Open Hand Open Heart

 Open Hand Open Heart is a ministry that goes into Boston on weekends with food, clothing, and the message of God's love to give to homeless people. The ministry has grown tremendously this year, as we continue to impact some of those less fortunate than ourselves. In turn, we also are greatly impacted through our opportunity to serve others. In the words of Paul, "Serve one another in love." (Galatians 5:7) May God continue to bless this important ministry.

Nursing Home Ministry

 The Nursing Home Ministry meets once a week to visit the elderly residents at the Presidential Convalescent Home in Quincy. Students who attend sing choruses, read the Bible, and build friendships with the residents. Many of the residents do not have family members living close by, so they do not have any visitors. It is such a joy for them to see young people whom they know will visit them faithfully each week and will reassure them that they are special and loved.

STUDENT MINISTRIES

Kids' Club

Kids' Club is a ministry run for the most part by ENC students at Bethel Church of the Nazarene. It is for children in the second through sixth grade, most of whom are from low income housing. We have game time which includes games like 'Pies,' 'The Water Game,' and the ever-favorite 'Jump the Sticks.' We also have craft time and a short Bible story. Through this Bible story we try to teach the kids about God and the Christian life. They don't always listen, but we have learned bribery can go a long way. But the most important thing that the ENC students do is showing the kids what Jesus is all about. It is not always what we say or do but sometimes just how we react to problems and how we love the kids that shows what it means to have Christ living in us. These kids have so much potential, and we do our best to bring it out. We must continue the good work, for Jesus said "... Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these" (Mark 10:14).

AMS

The Association of Male Students (AMS) is a general SGA organization set up to serve the needs of the male students in combination with other on-campus organizations (AWS, SGA, SDO, etc). AMS sets up open house times to help keep the morale of the dorms up. AMS organizes games for the male students to help them get to know each other and that create a positive and fun atmosphere. AMS also helps individual male students to grow spiritually through a Men's Prayer Breakfast.

WENC

Each year a number of dedicated hardworking students provide the campus with contemporary Christian music and programming that can not be found on any other radio station in the Boston area. For WENC, this year has been about "Raising Awareness". Staff members included and pictured below (L-R) Vicky Ambrus, Nat McIntyre (sports director), Chris Miner, Brady Ellingwood, Rebecca Caufield (station manager). Not pictured are Fred Brucker and Chad Morgan (music directors), Dave Messina, Tom Killberg (advertising), Joy McNalley, Tim Ennis, Dave Wilson, Christine Quinn, Jeff Saxton, Steve Tiedemann, John Haynes, Jason Crowe, Dave Strohe, Dawn Ebert (promotions), Joe Jones, and Boriana Nikolova (news director), Ruben Flores, Jean Zieper, and Amy Taylor. Working with a staff of over 20 DJ's WENC 640 AM has attempted to raise its awareness in the college community. Still working through the kinks of new transmitters, the station now broadcasts to the dorms as well as in the student center. This year the station, while working with SGA, helped promote the "Petra" concert by sponsoring a ticket give away. We don't know if we raised total awareness this year but we do know that we've come a long way and look forward to the future.

College Republicans

The ENC College Republicans are actively involved in the political process at the local, state, and national level. Our vision has been to endorse the principles of limited government and free enterprise, and to advocate for the Christian values that we believe in. We are proud of the influence that we have had in working on a wide variety of political campaigns, and our club has made a significant contribution to candidates who share our vision of the future. Our club is growing and we look forward to having a significant role in shaping the future of our country.

The Accountability Review Board has the responsibility of holding the various parts of the Student Government accountable to the student body. The board consists of two representatives from each class. The representatives this year were Vanessa Fries and Stephanie Graham of the Freshman class, Kevin Crizer and Kristen Porter of the Sophomore class, Erin Hitchcock and Susan Soares of the Junior class, and Melissa Boop and Ed Robles of the Senior class. The specific organizations which we review include class councils, societies, AMS, AWS, and the General and Executive councils, societies, AMS, AWS, and the General and Executive

Student Government councils. This year, the ARB has strived to ensure the integrity of our student leaders. We have worked to do this through the revision of the ARB guidelines and by promoting consistency through increased communication. It has been our goal to urge our student leaders on toward excellence as they serve the student body.

Field Hockey

The 1996-97 school year has been one of many obstacles for the Women's Field Hockey Club. Established in May of 1996, this new club has spent the year meeting the challenges of fundraising and the scheduling of scrimmages and games. Although the regular fall season was one of disappointment for the Club, we look forward to next year's season and hope to schedule some games for the upcoming school year. The Club has also continued to raise funds to purchase much needed equipment and to save for the costs of a regular playing season. The Club is positive that all of its efforts for the 1996-97 school year will be paid back in full when it finally gets to play its first game and hear the support of fellow ENC students. Pictured right (F-B, L-R): Marcia Mingledorf, Becky Jolicoeur, Joey Newcomer, Jenn Armstrong.

The Women's Soccer Club had more members this year than its previous two years combined. We actually had too many people. More than eighteen signed up to play in our first winter season. We are still struggling to become a varsity sport. However, with continued hard work and perseverance, this is a goal we definitely can accomplish. The 1996-97 Council included President - Lisa Barry, Vice President - Kelli Sawler, Chaplain - Dawn Ebert, Administrative Assistant - Vanessa Fries. Executive SG

"We the Executive Cabinet of the Student Government Association desire to create unity through diversity by seeking God in every aspect of our lives. Through this acknowledgment of God's presence we will strive to: Be real to ourselves, the council, and the student body; Create an environment of love and acceptance; And be approachable to you the student body. Our aim is to be a council of vision as we accept new challenges and reach new goals."

The mission of the Student Government Association is to serve the students and that was our purpose throughout this year. Those serving on this year's council were dedicated students who truly cared for the needs of this school and desired to continually improve our surroundings. Within each situation that arose the council worked to resolve each matter with the best interest of our campus in mind. In the midst of each decision and discussion, we desire to have God's direction and leadership. This year of service has brought both triumphs and failures, but none the less, has been a rewarding experience. On behalf of the entire

Student Government Association, it has been an honor and a privilege to serve our school and pray for God's continual blessing upon Eastern Nazarene College. - Tonia Lahr

STUDENT LIFE

Harbor Cruise

The first main Social Life event of the year was the annual Harbor Cruise. On Friday, September 13, 1996 many students boarded The Spirit of Boston. The evening began with entertainment by the official 1996 Harbor Cruise Band which included Huy Nguyen, Steve Rogers, Jeremy Smallwood, Ron Taylor, and Gil Thibault. They wowed the audience with a collection of Christian music ranging from Jars of Clay to our own Luke Sheets. The Harbor Cruise Band played throughout the evening. One of the highlights of the cruise was that crazy invention, the karaoke machine, which has always brought out many surprising talents. Thanks to Jeff Turner and the Social Life council, the cruise was once again a great success. Adapted from Campus Camera Sept. 27 1996 article by Rob Smith

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The 2nd annual Student Leadership Conference was held on October 4-5, 1996. Focusing on the theme "Follow the Leader," lectures were given by Rachel Shetler, Ken Stanford, Ken Gorton, Lora Wooster, and Dr. Jan Lanham. Fun activities as well as times for spiritual growth concluded with a call to seek the Lord for guidance and wisdom. It is each person's responsibility to reflect the face of God to those they come in contact with.

Oct. 18, 1996 article by Tonia Lahr

On October 7 at 8:00 PM, many students attended a comedy night featuring professional comedian/magician John P. Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins claims to know every card trick in existence, and knows many magic tricks as well. His tricks, which involve calling for volunteers from the audience, include sticking a chopstick through his tongue, linking and unlinking solid rings, and removing a person's wristwatch without their knowledge. The show came to an end with an attempt to snap a drinking straw from the blindfolded Leslie Favreau's mouth. Overall, the show was well-received and a noteworthy success. Adapted from Campus Camera Oct. 18, 1996 article by Thomas Mullen

Scott Madden, Matt Lantier, and Donald Hook are amazed by the magician's brilliance.

HOMEcoming QUEEN ~ Jen Jones

Homecoming. It all went by in a blur with camera flashes, peach roses, green balloons, and fairy tales. At the time I didn't have a moment to appreciate the honor bestowed upon me. But now, looking back, I realize the many little things that will always be remembered about that particular weekend. It started when I found out I was nominated, along with my brother Jeff, my roommate, and close friends to represent the senior class. Taking pictures with the girls and guys, having family present for support, getting a free ticket to the play, and of course wearing the tiara and heavy bright red robe were all part of my experience. Best of all the memories of the evening was being escorted by my brother and best friend, Jeff. We have come from being the worst of enemies to being the best of friends. This will always be a special moment we will remember as having shared the honors of the evening together. Looking back at my freshman, sophomore, and junior years here at ENC, I have so many enjoyable memories with my friends. Over these last few months of my senior year I am finding how difficult it is to make as many memories because of busy schedules, but Homecoming will always stand out as one to remember.

... An Enchanted Evening

Homecoming King ~ Steve Boel

As I reflect upon Homecoming, truly one of the greatest honors for me was simply being nominated for the court. As the week-end approached and the campus came alive with the excitement of the homecoming festivities, I continued my daily schedule with a mindset of not expecting to be elected King. The evening arrived and again the court gathered. Those who know me know how easily I embarrass, and how quickly my face turns a healthy shade of red due to my shy demeanor. It doesn't take much and I can light up a room with the glow emanating from my ears alone.

Coronation evening was no exception. From the time I walked down the aisle to the moment I was crowned King, I could feel my face turning shades of red. It was a great honor to have the prestige of being elected as King, an honor that I certainly did not expect. I was filled with emotions when the results were announced, from excitement to disbelief. Then the highlight of the entire evening occurred. I was privileged to be crowned by my friend, mentor and fellow music major, Jose Delgado. That was a moment never to be forgotten. Being given the title of Homecoming King was more than just an honor. It was a lesson in humility. The Lord reminds me again and again of His rich blessings and how He is the source of each of them. Whenever I sing, I remember who I sing for and from Whom that gift came. When others praise me for an accomplishment, I offer that praise directly to God. Being elected Homecoming King is a great honor, but I attribute that honor to my Lord. I do not claim to deserve any of God's blessings, for without Christ, I am nothing. But I thank Him each day for how He has continually placed His hand on my life. And I humbly thank my God for the privilege of being elected Homecoming King.

Homecoming was not only a soccer game and cross-country meet, a coronation ceremony and opening performances of the fall musical. Homecoming was a time to look back and remember, and to look ahead and smile. Remember what you and your friends have gone through as students here at ENC, and look ahead to what it will be like to return as an alumni. Whether a Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, or Senior, Homecoming has meaning.

The coronation ceremony was the perfect time to spend an evening with friends and to reminisce on all of the memorable moments experienced here.

Especially for those involved, Homecoming was truly "An Enchanted Evening," and one they will never forget.

INTO THE WOODS

"A giant? . . .
Possible, very,
very possible."

"Hello, little girl. . ."

The fall musical "Into the Woods," presented during the weekends of October 17-19 and 24-26, 1996, was extremely well-received. The show depicted all the traditional fairy tale characters we remember from our childhood in a not-so-traditional way. These characters, each with a goal they are pursuing, live out their individual stories at the same time, bumping into one another and entangling each another's lives. The audience was filled with laughter, but challenged with serious life issues. The fairy tale journey into, through, and finally out of the woods is symbolic of our journey through life, and the musical dealt with issues such as the difficult passage from childhood to adulthood and the responsibilities which go along with having one's wish come true. "Into the Woods" had something for everyone-wit, humor, and wisdom, and no one was disappointed.

"No more riddles. No more jests.
No more curses you can't undo, left by fathers you never knew. No more quests."

...AND HAPPY EVER AFTER

"It takes one to begin, but then once you've begun, it takes two of you."

"Unhappy now, unhappy hence. Had we used our common sense, been worthy of our discontents, we'd all be happy."

"Into the woods you go again, you have to every now and then.
 Into the woods, no telling when, be ready for the journey.
 Into the woods, but not too fast or what you wish you lose at last.
 Into the woods, but mind the past. Into the woods, but mind the future."

Big Sister ~ Little Sister Party

The annual Big Sister ~ Little Sister Party, hosted by AWS, was held on October 21, 1996. The theme was "An Evening with the Stars," with many celebrities present and over 130 women participating in the evening's activities. Activities included entertainment, by a male vocal quintet, the "Most Embarrassing Moment" contest, Movie Trivia, and several "Oscar Awards." Response to the evening was positive and many felt it was a great way to get to know their "sisters" in a fun and creative atmosphere. Adapted from Campus Camera Nov. 1, 1996 article by April Wanner

This January, to the delight of some, and disappointment of those hoping for snow days, we didn't get as much snow as in other years. Still, as shown in these pictures, there was time when the entire campus was covered by a clean blanket of snow, which, along with the beautiful blue sky, cast an air of peace over everything.

Winter Life

TENNESSEE

Term

Eleven Comm Arts and History students joined together to serve two rural black churches that had been burned in Tennessee. Recording and transcribing oral histories and videotaping the interviews was a way to preserve the rich history of churches that might otherwise have been lost. This trip turned out to be not only a service to those two congregations, but also a spiritually uplifting experience for the students involved. Through helping others and witnessing their faith, students built friendships and saw God's work through each of them.

BRITISH

Eight students and Dr. McLaren headed south to a warmer climate for a week this January. The greeting at a local Nazarene church was warm and welcoming. Seeing the magnificent Mayan Ruins was awe-inspiring, and other high points of the trip were swimming and snorkeling in the reefs, seeing many wild animals, exploring the footprint cave, and trying many new and spicy kinds of food. The trip was an opportunity to study the tropical environment and culture and history of Belize and to actual experience what the students have been learning through Biology classes.

BELIZE

Prof. Shetler and the 22 Madrigal Singers sang their way through England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, and France, performing in schools and churches, and ministering to the people of the British Isles. This ministry not only affected the audiences, but the singers themselves. Staying in the homes of church families allowed the students to really experience life as the British people see it. Worshipping with Christians in another part of the world brought an awareness of the unity we have through God, and the importance of this unity and ministry to others.

Travel

LONDON

Nineteen students and their adopted family (the Winderls and Eunice Ferreira) traveled to London, and spent 3 weeks exploring the city and seeing a great variety of plays. Highlights included Stratford-upon-Avon, Warwick Castle, bed-and-breakfasts, the Tube, St. Paul's Cathedral, museums, musicals, and thought-provoking plays. Despite similarities between England and the United States, many were struck by the cultural differences and enjoyed being out of their comfort zones. Many wonderful and lasting friendships formed, which was for some the best part of the trip!

ISLES

ENC sent 4 International Business and 2 Service Learning students to Romania for J-Term. The Service Learning students did volunteer work in a children's hospital and with the steel kids ministry while the business students helped to organize a computer center. All of the students interacted with the people of Sighisoara and built relationships with people of another culture. Spending time in Romania was a challenging learning experience, as the students were exposed to a culture very different from life here in the United States.

ROMANIA

FLOOR FEUD

The many Social Life events on campus this Spring drew a multitude of students who wanted to be entertained and amused. Some of the events were the frequent 99¢ Movie Nights, Floor Feud, the Ms. Munro Pageant, and the Star Search "Talent" Show. Sponsored by SGA or an individual class, each event provided opportunities for students to spend time with their friends in an atmosphere other than that of classes, the dorms, or the dugout.

STAR SEARCH

Tartuffe

Tartuffe is a story of hypocrisy and the quest to reveal the truth. Tartuffe is a man taking advantage of another's trusting nature. He plans to marry Orgon's daughter, seduce his wife, and run off with all of the household's valuables. Orgon's family is not at all fooled by Tartuffe's facade, and eventually foil his attempts. Contemporized for today's society, the play has a message relevant to today that challenged each audience member to look for the truth within themselves.

Other ENC Productions The Actor's Nightmare

The Actor's Nightmare is the story of a man named George who is suddenly taken for an actor. He finds himself playing a number of varying roles, and he does not know any of the lines or situations. It is an analogy of life, where the rules and scenes of the play keep changing, and the message of the play shows the audience the anxiety of being unprepared and having to face an audience. Adapted from Campus Camera Dec 13, 1996 article by Rhonda Lajoie

The Real Inspector Hound

The Real Inspector Hound is a murder mystery spoof. Two theatre critics, who are watching the show, are pulled into the drama, becoming actual characters in the murder mystery. The Inspector explores the conflict between reality and illusion, shown on the stage. Adapted from Campus Camera Dec 13, 1996 article by Rhonda Lajoie

Marvin's Room

Marvin's Room is an emotionally charged play about a family's search for love, and the cost of loving. Looking at love from various perspectives, the play shows the conflicting ideas of giving and receiving love. The play tells us that love must be given freely to be experienced, and giving of yourself does not necessarily mean you want something in return. The story ends with the family beginning the process of healing. No issues are resolved, but the scars are getting fainter. -Written with the assistance of Bec and Do

R.A. - It stands for "Relentless Authority!"

Here ends another long, treacherous year at ENC. I have finished two years here and I am going to tackle my third and final one in September. This past year has been full of fun memories, hard times and difficult classes, but I came out unscathed. I've learned a lot from being a Resident Assistant on a Freshman floor. I've learned to depend on my gut instincts, my friends, and most of all, God. I turned to Him daily with concerns on my floor knowing that no matter what I faced, I wouldn't have to face it alone. I am glad that I had the opportunity to serve God this way. I pray that I was able to be a good role model for my "girls," as I fondly like to call them, and I pray also that I helped to make their college transition an easy one. They were an energetic bunch and I'm glad that I had the chance to know each one of them.

Next year, I have the pleasure of working with a slightly older crowd, since I will be a Resident Assistant in Munro. No more sign-in sheets, no more tally sheets, not as many noise violations, and definitely more upperclassmen. I expect a good year with a great group of girls, and the added bonus of a larger room is a nice thought as well!

Summer Ministries - The best job you'll ever love to hate

In the fall, while most people are just recovering from their summer jobs, the admissions department starts interviewing people for ministry positions for the following summer. Summer Ministries provides a great opportunity for many students to minister over the summer at camps, churches, and homes. Once the teams are picked, the hard work starts. Time is spent growing closer to teammates. It is important that each group communicate effectively in order to be more successful in ministry. Each group must then turn their attention towards compiling songs and skits. Just after graduation, training week begins. Then each group will follow a set schedule throughout the summer, going to either camps or churches, interacting with children, teens, and adults.

This will be my second time traveling with a Summer Ministry team. I have found this experience rewarding because I get the opportunity to travel around the east coast ministering, as well as being ministered to.

Powder Puff

FOOTBALL

ENC's first Powder Puff football games were held this year, one in the fall, and one at the start of Spring Fever Weekend. Many girls took part in training and practicing for the games, and under the guidance of their coaches, did a great job. The Freshman-Sophomore team and the Junior-Senior team had a great time playing, and spectators saw some ENC females in a way they had never been seen before!

Commentators Jeremy Anderson and Mark Scott report the action and keep the spectators amused.

Weekend May 9-10 1997

Lip Sync

What do Puff the Magic Dragon, Singing Nuns, the Brady Bunch, and Michael Jackson all have in common? They, along with other celebs, were all present at the Lip Sync on May 9! A favorite with both the judges and the audience was the singing and dancing nuns from "Nunsense" (Tonia Lahr, Elaine Groff, Sally Keller, Michelle Mula, Vicky Morales, Laura Brown). They were awarded first place, and even a standing ovation by some audience members. Tied for second place were "The Brady Bunch" (Lara Rines, Krissy Snell, Melissa Boop, Joy Forbes, Jessica Buckingham, Jen Jones) and the girls of 1st Willy, who proved that "Girls Just Wanna Have Fun," and even masked males couldn't stop them!

Spring Fever

Spring Fever Weekend was warmer and sunnier this year than in the past few years, so May 10 found Bradley Field covered with students bouncing, boxing, having caricatures drawn, and mud wrestling. Even students who chose not to participate in getting filthy dirty had just as much fun watching those who threw abandon to the wind and wrestled friends in a pit of mud.

Nazarene Publishing House, our commitment to you starts with our commitment to God.

Our commitment to God

Nazarene Publishing House is more than just a publishing company—it is a place of ministry for more than 260 employees committed to serving God. Our goal is to provide you and the church with the most effective Christ-centered resources possible.

Our commitment to you

Making your next purchase with NPH a positive experience is our top priority. From the time you call our toll-free fax or teleservice line, to the time your product is packaged and shipped, you can count on our commitment to provide you a superior product and accurate service.

Our commitment to improvement

NPH is also committed to continuous improvement. As you begin using your new NPH Resource Catalog, you will notice significant improvements in format, product selection, and indexing. We hope these user-friendly improvements assist you in making your important purchasing decisions.

Working together as a ministry team, our goal at Nazarene Publishing House is to equip you with resources that build and nurture you, your church, and Christians around the world with the good news of life in Christ.

These resources include WordAction curriculum that presents God's truth through Sunday School and your teaching ministries; Lillenas publications for powerful worship and praise music plus message-driven drama; Beacon Hill Press for timely books and periodicals; and Crystal Sea Recordings for listening music that encourages and uplifts.

Together, we are partners in ministry!

Positively,

Paul Wesley Ragland Jr.

CONGRATULATIONS! WE ARE ALL VERY PROUD OF YOU!!

MAY 26TH, 1997

Three pieces of advice from a
Waawho fan:

1. Always use 6 straws to watch snow white.
2. When you really feel like letting your hair down be like Grandma, and eat your dessert first.
3. When someone says Paul "you can't do that" Look at them and say "watch me."

Love, Grandma Easter

To one of the greatest grandsons we have ever had and whom we love very, very much. We always try to find a card that says "special" in the title because that's how we feel. You are always in our heart and prayers!!!

Love Always, Fawfaw and Geegee

We are very proud of you!
We wish we could be there to watch the big day! You are always in our prayers and our hearts!
Dad and Suzanne

*I wish the best to my nephew Paul Ragland in all his endeavors as he moves on to new goals. I am proud to have such a fine nephew.
All my love, "Auntie" J.*

Son, always march to your own drum. The only true "flower" I have had the pleasure of knowing. Just like the engine, I think you can, I think you can!!! Thanks for being a very special son, a wonderful friend, a counselor, a mediator, a prayer warrior, a bed maker, a dishwasher, a back scratcher, a toilet scrubber, a strong shoulder, a comedian, a babysitter, a chauffeur, a tire changer, a protector, a mattress carrier, a car washer, a moving service, a big brother, a diaper changer, a stocking filler, a card sender, a money lender, a listener,...

best of all my favorite oldest son!

Ditto Always, Mom P.S Call Soon

Congratulations

Jennifer Jill Clark

We pray that our daughter will remain in the same calling in which she was called. 1 Cor. 7:20

God gave us a gift beyond value when He gave you to us. He has given the great gift of love in your heart and now prepared you to use it. Go now and use this gift, for "she opens her arms to the poor and extends her hands to the needy." Prov 31:20.

Many daughters have done well, but you excell them all. Prov. 31:29

We love you,

MY OWN PRIVATE SPOT...

As the final editor's personal assistant, chauffeur and consultant, Erin gave me this spot for all the hard work I've done. I want to thank Erin for being willing to take over the Nautilus when it seemed like an impossible task. You did well at getting things back on track, (with my help, of course - JJ!), and I know that you will make a great editor next year. Good luck and watch those deadlines. I thought I would use this space to thank everyone that contributed to the 1997 yearbook. It seemed like it may never get done, but hey, we had faith and it is done!! I have worked on the Nautilus for three years and I loved every minute, well almost every minute. I want to take this space to thank all the businesses, organizations and parents that made this Ad's section one of the best. Thank you!

Next I want to congratulate all the 1997 seniors! May God lead you in all He wants from your life and may you always know that He is there! Good luck in the future and thank you for the great memories...

When I turn in the last pages of layouts tomorrow, I will finally be able to say the yearbook is basically done! There were times, especially when I first took over and these last few weeks, that I wondered if it would ever be completely done. Those of you who have never worked on a yearbook have no idea of the amount of work that has gone into this book you now hold in front of you. Yearbook calls for a lot of commitment, hard work, and flexibility. But, due to a great staff and a lot of support, it's all come together. There have been some negative aspects, but the positive far outweigh the bad! It has been a wonderful experience, and a learning experience as well, and I'm feeling more prepared to edit next year's yearbook.

There are several people I need to express my thanks to, because without them, this yearbook would never have been completed - primarily my staff!

First of all, Jenn. Jenn, I would have been so lost without you this semester! You have practically been my co-editor, my overall yearbook consultant, a wonderful Ads Consultant, my chauffeur, and most of all, my friend. You have done a terrific job, and I can't even begin to think of where I would be without you. Thank you for everything. Jeremy, you have been an awesome Business Manager. Thanks for faithfully recording our expenses, and always reimbursing me when I put those photo receipts in your drawer! You did a great job working with what we had. Melissa, thank you for all your hard work and creativity. You have again done an excellent job your section, getting all the pictures and write-ups possible, and it looks wonderful. Amanda, thank you for always knowing which pictures should (and shouldn't) be used. After all a picture is worth a 1,000 unnecessary words! Barb, even in times of frustration dealing with people and getting write-ups, you always managed to pull your pages together. Thank you for your consistency and persistence to get everything done! Stephanie, I so appreciate your willingness to learn about the computer, and do the best job you could on the Faculty section. I think it looks great! Amie, what would I have done without your enthusiasm and positive approach to everything going on with yearbook?! My one-and-only volunteer - you did a super job! Next year you'll get paid! Jeff & Celeste, thanks for having such eyes for photography. And Jeff, thank you for always taking those photos I kept nagging at you to take.

Chris Spelman, the best Jostens' rep we could have - thank you for your patience and the time you spent working with me on the yearbook. I greatly appreciate all the time you spent helping me work through the details of the book and learn more about the whole yearbook process.

Finally, I would like to thank all those people who stopped in to visit while I was working in the Nautilus office. You often brought me sanity in times of stress!

I look forward to next year, when I will do this all over again (with at least a slightly better grasp of the entire yearbook process), and I hope every one will enjoy this book and keep it as a fond memory of this year!
